Template for SIGecom Exchanges Submissions

ALICE L. CANONIKOPOLOUS
University of Alice and
BOB Q. SPECIMOV
Bob Laboratories

We present a skeleton of a SIGecom submission. Notice the running page headers specified with the \markboth command, the categories and terms and keywords, and the author addresses in \bottomstuff.

Categories and Subject Descriptors: B.6.1 [Logic Design]: Design Styles—Logic Arrays

General Terms: Electricity, Commerce, Economics, Agents, Meta, Stuff

Additional Key Words and Phrases: Templates, Skeletons, Things

---

1. INTRODUCTION

This paper will be about formatting your paper. Other papers have been written in the past. [Reid 1980]

2. GUTS

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

Notice how the running headers alternate author names and condensed title.

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

(filler)

3. CONCLUSION

This paper was about formatting your paper.

REFERENCES

REID, B. K. 1980. A high-level approach to computer document formatting. In Proceedings of the Seventh Annual Symposium on Principles of Programming Languages. ACM, New York, 24–31.